BIG BATTLE BEGINS AROUND MUKDEN

Japs Make Several Attacks--
Repulsed at Port Arthur.

The Confirmation of the Sinking of Japanese War Vessels Was Received Today.

HEAVY FIGHTING IS EXPECTED

Rome, Sept. 30.—A dispatch from Muk
den states that the battle about that place began yesterday evening. The Japanese opened hostilities by delivering five desperate attacks at many points along the Russian front and flank.

RUSSIAN BOAT SANK.

Vladivostok, Sept. 30.—The Danish
commander of the lightship near Bou-
lie Island reports that the Russian torpedo boat Bechtelini, which the Japanese took from Chifoo with an object of conveying it to Bousie, sank near the Island. Before sinking the powder magazine aboard exploded, killing thirty Japanese.

RUNNING THE BLOCKADE.

Chifoo, Sept. 30.—A Japanese torpedo boat destroyer at midnight landed eighteen Chinese coolies taken from a junk trying to run the blockade, carrying mail from Port Arthur. Two Russians disguised as Chinese were held as prisoners.

SITUATION ABOUT THE SAME.

Harbin, Sept. 30.—There is no change
in the situation about Mukden. A dispatch received today states that the Russian cavalry dispersed two parties of Japanese taking some cattle. The main body of Japanese south of the branch railway is moving eastward.

COMMUNICATION CUT OFF.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 30.—Communication with Mukden is practically suspended and St. Petersburg is therefore suffering another period of anxiety and suspense just when the situation had been given that important developments were imminent between the armies of Kuro-patkin and Oyama. Port Arthur is more isolated than ever and the only news
from that place comes by the way of Vladivostok. It contains, however,
hopeful intimation that the garrison is confident of being able to hold out till
the first of the year.

HARRISON NOT ALARMED.

Vladivostok, Sept. 30.—Private reports
from Port Arthur state that the garrison there is confident of being able to hold out until the beginning of next year.

The report is confirmed of the loss of three Japanese torpedo boats and the damage of a Japanese cruiser by coming in contact with Russian mines.

ALL IS QUIET AT VLADIVOSTOK.

MAIN ARMY RETIRED.

London, Sept. 30.—Telegraphing from
New Peking, the Mail's correspondent
says:

"The main force of the Russian army
has retired to the north of Mukden.
Strong forces of troops have been thrown
out to defend both banks and the southern approaches to the city have been mined. Indications are that no serious attempt will be made to hold Mukden."

DEATHS FROM BERRI-BERI.

London, Sept. 30.—The Telegraph's
Shanghai correspondent gives a vivid
account of the terrible ravages of berriberi among the Japanese and especially among those besieging Port Arthur, asserting that deaths from the disease
exceed the number killed in fighting.

REPULSED AT PORT ARTHUR.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 30.—An official dispatch received today states that a general assault was made on the defense
at Port Arthur from Sept. 20 to 26, but
was everywhere repulsed.

Vladivostok, Sept. 30.—The Hungarian
trading steamer Groedel, from Madrid, flying
the English flag, arrived today. She reports that a Russian cruiser, the Terek, sounded her for contraband oil. The Russian commander, according to officers of the steamer, demanded their signature to a declaration that no
breach of international courtesy was committed. The commander added that if he had found the Groedel in Japanese waters he would have sunk her.

NEW YORK CONCERN HAS BACKED DOWN

The County Bonds Bought by a New Company.

White & Company Declined at the Last Moment to Refund $100,- 000 in County Bonds.

BETTER CONTRACT NOW MADE

These $100,000 county bonds which
the county has been trying to refund
for the past two months, after experiencing strenuous times in New York,
were at last successfully refunded
by the firm of Kleinburn & Company, of New York, a very responsible firm.

The county for the past year tried several times to refund the bonds but
wanted to pay too small a percent,
the bonding firm refusing to bid as low as the county wanted them to.
At last White & Company, of New York, sent a proposition here to take
the bonds at 4 1/2 per cent. interest and the county judge called fiscal
court and accepted the proposition.
Every detail of the work was carefully completed and the new bonds
sent here, signed and returned to New York, only to find that White & Company refused to refund them because they thought Kentucky statutes
made no provision for refunding.

The last legislature passed an act
authorizing counties to refund bonds
and Treasurer H. H. Loving was sent to New York with a copy of the statute to "show them." He returned satisfied that the bonds would be refunded but when he arrived no old bonds came back for destruction and a few days ago the county judge received a letter saying the firm had declined not to refund the bonds.

Justice R. J. Barler, probably one of the best financiers in the city and
chairman of the refunding committee,
was sent to New York by Judge Light-
foot and today he telegraphed back
that he had successfully induced the bonding people to take the bonds at a rate of 4 per cent. interest. The firm is Kleinburn & Company, and stands
even higher than White & Company
it is said.

NEW LORD MAYOR

ALDERMAN JOHN POUND, WHO HAS
"NOTHING BUT MONEY," CHOS-EN FOR THE PLACE.

London, Sept. 30.—Alderman John
Pound, chairman of the London General
Omnibus company, limited, was today
chosen Lord Mayor of London for the ensuing year. He was born in Lead-
hall street, London, in 1820.

Alderman Pound will succeed Sir
James Thomson Ritchie as Lord Mayor.
Mr. Pound is head of the firm of John Pound & Co., and was elected alderman of Aldgate ward in 1892. He is past master of the Leather Sellers' company,
past master of the Fumblers' company,
and past master of the Fruiteers' company.

A LITTLE FOR BOTH.

Washington, Sept. 30.—After a number of consultations with the president
Acting Secretary of the Treasury Taylor
has reached a conclusion in the matter
of the customs stamp on boxes containing imported cigars. While no definite information is obtainable as to what
the decision is, there is reason to believe
it will be fairly satisfactory to both sides. Neither side obtained all it requested.

HOILERMAKERS GO ON STRIKE.

Meadville, Pa., Sept. 30.—The hoiler-
makers employed in the Erie railroad shops here went on strike today. The men demanded the reinstatement of three members of a committee who had been discharged, and on the reply refusing to grant the demand a strike was ordered. A large number of men are idle.

OFFICIALLY APPOINTED.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—Anna
May Yeiser, daughter of the mayor of Paducah, Ky., has been officially selected to christen the gunboat Paducah, which will be launched at Morris Heights, New York, October 11.

TRYING TO KICK IT OVER.

"BAD MAN" KILLED BY AN IRATE WIFE

Ticky Jim Back Shot and Killed
Today.

He Was the Star Witness in the Noted Curtis Jeti Murder Trial
Recently.

A DESPERADO IN HREATHITT

Jackson, Ky., September 30.—Ticky
Jim Back, the star witness in the Curtis Jeti trial for the defendant, was shot and killed by his wife this morning.

Back was intoxicated and in a family quarrel set fire to his residence.
His wife grabbed the shot gun and fired
both barrels into his breast, killing him instantly.

She was arrested and is now in jail.
Back was indicted in the Harrison
circuit court for swearing falsely in the murder trial of Curtis Jeti, to which a change of venue was granted.

He was acquitted on the trial and
since his acquittal had been on a spree.

He and his wife had not been on good terms for a year. The tragedy
has created the biggest kind of a sensation here. He was regarded as one of the "bad" men of the mountains.

QUITS THE PARTY.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 30.—Gen. Francis
W. Peabody, one of the most prominent democrats in the state, once a candidate for mayor of this city, says:

"I have resigned from the democratic club because I didn't want to be putting
my money one way and casting my vote
another. There are many things that may turn up between now and November,
which might prevent me from voting
for Roosevelt, but if I carry out my present intentions I shall vote for Roosevelt."

CASE NOT TRIED.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 30.—Louis
Mitchell, the negro arrested Saturday
charged with attempting to poison the family of Judge Mulligan, was brought before a magistrate today and the case
postponed until next Friday. County Attorney Kimball said the case will be thoroughly investigated without fear or favor.

ISLAND SWEEP AWAY.

Denver, Sept. 30.—A rumor is current that Trinidad was partially swept away
by breaking a reservoir containing an immense volume of water. The wires
are down and reports can not be verified.
Heavy rains have caused several rivers
to overflow their banks.

WILL ENJOY HIMSELF.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 30.—Upon the emperor's return from Southern Russia
he will go to his hunting lodge at Hlo-vechko, on the border of Poland, between Vienna and Kiev, for a fortnight's
shooting.

Every republican in Paducah and the incorporated towns of the district should register on next Tuesday, October 4th.

Postmaster General Payne Has Heart Trouble.

Today He Flavors Between Life and Death and May Die at Any Time.

Washington, September 30.—Postmaster General Payne is seriously ill
at his apartments at the Hotel Arlington here. Marked symptoms of heart trouble have developed and his condition became so serious during the day
as to cause grave concern.

Mr. Payne recently returned from a trip west and appeared to be feeling
in a much improved condition, though
his health has been poor for a long time. He went to the White House to attend a meeting of the cabinet last Tuesday and that night was very restless. He was at his desk at the postoffice department during the forenoon
yesterday, although feeling very badly
and did not return to the department
after luncheon, remaining in his room. He became very ill last night
and has been confined to his bed ever since.

Washington, D. C., September 30.— Noon.—Postmaster General Payne is hovering between life and death. His condition this morning is extremely critical and physicians fear the end
may come at any time.

WERE BRIBED

SOME SENSATIONAL CHARGES
AGAINST SEVERAL STATE
OFFICIALS.

St. Louis, Sept. 30.—As a result of charges of bribery preferred against certain state food commissioners by T. N. Barrett, editor of a New York
trade journal, at today's session of the international pure food congress a committee of investigation was appointed and instructed to conduct a thorough inquiry.

Barrett asserted he could prove that commissioners accepted emoluments
in return for immunity from provisions of the pure food laws of different states.

MURDERED HER HUSBAND.

Marshall, Ill., September 30.—Mrs.
Gertrude Norton was found not guilty
of the murder of her husband, Mack Norton. A plea of self defense was made. The tragedy occurred last June
and followed a quarrel.

ALLEGED LYNCHER ACQUITTED

Huntsville, Ala., September 30.—
The jury in the case of George Frame,
charged with murder, today returned a verdict of "not guilty." Frame is the fourth alleged lyncher of the negro Maple to be acquitted.

Near There.

An Explosion of Natural Gas in Ohio Plays Havoc—Wife Mur-derer Is Hanged.

A UTAH POISONING CASE

Chicago, September 30.—Frances Parkhurst, the missing student at Ferry Hall, Lake Forest, is dead.
The girl's body was discovered this morning in the lake after an all night
search participated in by hundreds of men and soldiers from Fort Sheridan.
All indications point to suicide.

WIFE MURDERER HANGED.

Chicago, September 30.—Frank Lewandowsky, the wife murderer, was hanged this morning in the county jail. Lewandowsky cut his wife's throat and then attempted suicide.
He blamed whiskey for the tragedy.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

Cleveland, September 30.—An explosion of natural gas at the reducing station of the East Ohio Gas Company
this morning destroyed the station
and possibly fatally injured two men,
and slightly injured a third. The officials say they believe someone
tampered with the machinery.

POISONED BY OATMEAL MUSH.

Logan, Utah, September 30.—Mrs.
William Hansen is dead and her husband is critically ill as a result of eating poisoned oat meal mush. How the poison got into the food is a mystery.

FOUL MURDER

FEARFULLY MUTILATED BODY OF
YOUNG GIRL FOUND IN WOODS
IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

Yankton, S. D., Sept. 30.—A foul murder came to light today when the body of a young Meannite girl was found fourteen miles west of Yankton.
She had been missing several days and searching parties have been hunting for
her. Her body was discovered near the border of lands belonging to Bon Homme Meannite society. Her mouth was stuffed with grass and sod, evidently to prevent an outcry. Her clothing was almost entirely stripped from her body and she had been horribly mistreated. Suspicion rests on three tramps who were seen in the neighborhood during the day.
Tracks of three men were found near the body.

DEMOCRATS PULL OUT THE BIG BOYS

Cleveland, Olney and Carlisle to Speak for Them.

The Republican Senators Are Meeting
With Rousing Receptions Everywhere They Speak.

CANNON IS OUT IN NEBRASKA

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 30.—From Helena to Spokane, Washington, Senator Fairbanks traveled yesterday, crossing
the northern point of Idaho en route.
Senator Fairbanks devoted himself
largely to the duty of lumber, contending that republican policies are necessary
to the proper protection of that industry.

In his speech last night Senator Fairbanks made an exposition of the republican policy in the Philippines, his leading topic.

Senator Dolliver spoke on the general issues of the campaign.

CANNON IN NEBRASKA.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 30.—Speaker Can-
non concluded a week of speaking
in Nebraska last night at the Lincoln auditorium, which was crowded. The tariff furnished the principal theme.

FORAKER SPEAKS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 30.—The republican state campaign form a national standpoint opened here last night by Senator Foraker, of Ohio.

Senator Quarles of Wisconsin presided and in presenting Senator Foraker
briefly referred to the factional differences in the republican party by saying
he did not know whether the apparent
apathy in Wisconsin was due to unfortunate factional differences which engaged
the attention of the people so that they had no time to consider anything beyond, or to the settled conviction that Roosevelt was good enough for them.

BIG DEMOCRATS.

New York, Sept. 30.—A democratic
nursing meeting will be held in Madison Square Garden about the middle of October at which it is the intention to have as speakers Former President Cleveland and a number of the free-most democrats of the country. If his health will permit Mr. Cleveland will preside.

Among the speakers are to be Richard Olney of Massachusetts, and John G.
Carlisle of Kentucky. Arrangements are perfect for the reception to be given Judge Parker next Wednesday night.
Three thousand invitations are to be issued.

KISS AND MAKE UP.

New York, Sept. 30.—Representatives
of every wing of the democratic party
have been in conference with Judge Parker the past three days in an effort to secure harmonious work for the national ticket.

An incident that has created the most notable comment was a meeting between Senators Gorman and Rayner of Maryland, accompanied by the announcement from their political associates that whatever differences heretofore existed
between the Maryland leaders have been disappeared, at least so far as the present
campaign is concerned.

STEVENSON OPENS AT HOME.

Bloomington, Sept. 30.—Former Vice-President Stevenson opened the democratic campaign in central Illinois by addressing a mass meeting here last

PEACEFUL SLUMBER FOR AGED SENATOR

Death Came to George Frisbie Hoar Today.

His Condition Had Been Considered
Hopeless For Several Weeks Past.

SOMETHING OF HIS CAREER

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 30.—George Frisbie Hoar, senior senator from Massachusetts, died at his home in this city
at 1:35 this morning.

The end followed a period of unconsciousness that had continued since early Tuesday.

Physicians despaired of the senator's
life six weeks ago, but his vitality was such as to cherish a faith in his ultimate recovery.

On Sunday last, however, all hope was abandoned after the unsuccessful attempt to administer medicine and nourishment. Brief lucid intervals were followed by longer durations of unconsciousness until Tuesday morning when the venerable statesman sank into a state of coma from which all efforts to rouse him proved futile.

Senator Hoar had been in ill health
since last winter when he was troubled with lumbago. The death of his wife
in Washington proved such a blow that he never recovered from its effects.

He came to his home here soon after the adjournment of congress, apparently
recovered from the attack of lumbago.

The senator's last public appearance
was when he made an informal afternoon address at the English high school.
Up to August 17 he remained in his home and much of the time stayed in bed.

Senator Hoar was born at Concord, Massachusetts, Aug. 20, 1826, and was 74 years old. He had been a member of the United States senate for 27 years.

He studied law and entered upon his profession at Worcester, Mass., and his earliest appearance in politics was as chairman of the Free Soil party committee in 1849. From this period he was a conspicuous member of the republican party. He sat in the Massachusetts legislature in house and senate successively,
from 1852 to 1869, when he was elected to congress. After serving as representative until 1877 he became a member of the national senate, where he remained until his death.

He often exhibited much independence of party in his political action, and
in his latest years was especially prominent in his opposition to national expansion. He was one of the readiest of speakers in debate while his more formal
speeches and orations were polished
and scholarly in style, and forceful and eloquent in substance and delivery. His eulogy of President McKinley was the most notable of his later orations.

The funeral services over the remains of Senator Hoar will be held in the Church of Unity next Monday afternoon.
Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale will officiate.

BISHOP POTTER

SAYS UNLESS THE EVIL IS STOPPED SOCIETY WILL RE-LAPSE INTO BARBARISM.

New York, September 30.—Bishop Henry C. Potter attacked divorce in vigorous terms in his report in the annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York. He declared that unless the church sets
itself against the spread of the evil society would relapse into a state of practical barbarism, and he urged the
clergy to set itself against divorce,
which he characterized as a "Godless license which flings aside the most sacred vows because of venial incongeniality."

PROFESSOR KILLED.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 30.—Arthur
D. Wyman, an instructor in the chemical laboratory of Harvard, and son of Chas.
F. Wyman, the Russian consul at Boston died today from injuries sustained by being run down by an automobile at midnight. The automobile was owned and operated by Leon Strauss, a student at Harvard.

Strauss was arrested on a charge of manslaughter and released on bail of $1,000.

WATER DIDN'T STOP THEM.

Several of the butchers today state that even high water did not stop them from going to the market house in 1884, and a number claim not to have missed a single day during the flood, although the general public had a hard time getting there, even in skiffs.

Every republican in Paducah and the incorporated towns of the district should register on next Tuesday, October 4th.

BIG MAN DUE

Col. John Vance Will be in Paducah Monday Next.

President of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association.

Colonel John L. Vance, of Cincinnati, Ohio, writes that he will arrive in Paducah Monday on business, and may remain throughout Tuesday.

Colonel Vance is president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, and it is presumed that he is coming on business connected with it. The annual meeting will be held in Huntington, West Virginia, in November, and it is expected that the attendance will be large. It is not yet known who will attend from Paducah.

The association has as its object the improvement of the Ohio river from the headwaters to its source, and although it has not been able to accomplish a great deal, it has never lost hope, and will renew its efforts with redoubled vigor before the next session of congress.

Colonel Vance, during his stay in Paducah, will be at the Palmer House, and hopes to meet local river men.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY OPENS TUESDAY

Miss Sharpe Will Deliver an Address.

The Final and Formal Opening Will Take Place Later—Programme For Tuesday.

THE PUBLIC IS INVITED

The preliminary opening of the Carnegie Library, at Ninth and Broadway, will be held Tuesday evening next, October 4, at 7:30 o'clock. The library board met last night in special session for the purpose of arranging a programme for the opening and while this will be the opening of the library as far as the public is concerned in gaining access to the books, the final and formal opening will not occur until winter when all books have been listed and the entire library prepared for use.

The programme arranged for the opening Tuesday night is brief but one number especially will be of interest, this being the address by Miss Sharpe. The programme follows:

Overture.
Declaration of Opening of Library—Mayor D. A. Yeiser.
Invocation—Rev. G. W. Perryman.
Musio.
Introductory Remarks—President E. W. Bagby, of the Library Board.
Lecture on Libraries—Miss Katherine Lucinda Sharpe.
Musio.
Closing Remarks—Public School Superintendent C. M. Lieb.

Miss Sharpe is one of the greatest librarians in the country, at present holding the position of head librarian and director of the State Library School University of Illinois, at Urbana, Ill. Her visit here will be of much importance to those interested in educational matters.

Misses Ada Brazelton and Letha Paryear will furnish the music.

President Bagby wishes to say that while this will be the preliminary opening of the library no books will be given out that night and only the fiction and juvenile departments will be opened Tuesday.

The library will take the following

periodicals, twenty in all:
Harpers, Century, Outlook, McClures, Bookman, Literary Digest (weekly), World's Work, Public Librarian, Forum, Scientific American Supplement (weekly), Readers Guide to Periodical Literature, Review of Reviews, Munsey, Collier's Weekly, Frank Leslie's Weekly, St. Nicholas, Youth's Companion, The National Geographical Magazine.

Among the late books published the following have been received by the library:
The Castaway, The Cost, Dorothea, God's Good Men, In the Bishop's Carriage, Ladder of Swords, Memoirs of a Baby, Nancy Stein, Pillar of Light, Queen's Quoir, Virgilus and The Yoke.

Mr. Carnegie, the donor of the library, has given the library the Magna Charter and the Declaration of Independence, both of which were framed gratis by the Rex Manufacturing Company, and are hanging in the library.

Mr. Carnegie has also given the library two books of much value. They are the Right of War and Peace, by Grotius, edition de luxe. This is one of the greatest books ever written, President Bagby thinks, and it has been adopted by the Hague Tribunal, the best recommendation possible to receive.

The other book is The American Natural History, by Hensley, possibly the best natural history ever written. Both books are elegantly bound and highly prized by the library.

Hensley's decision to open the library, the board last night appointed a committee to look after the yard improvements. The curbing has been a little out of line and will have to be fixed and the committee will also begin putting the yard in shape.

Misses Baynham and Corbett, librarians and assistants, are working hard getting the books listed and think they will have the library ready for the regular opening sooner than expected. Miss Street, the expert cataloguer has trained both Miss Baynham and Miss Corbett thoroughly in the management of the library and will remain here until the library is running smoothly.

There will be many persons on hand Tuesday night and while the opening ceremonies will be brief, the library will be open for inspection until late at night. All are invited.

Every republican in Paducah and the incorporated towns of the district should register on next Tuesday, October 4th.

Mr. Ebbert has been a substitute, and he is succeeded as substitute by Mr. Fahian Greenwell. The new route which is to be carried by Mr. Ebbert will be in the heart of the city, and will consist of portions taken off other routes, to enable the carriers to carry farther out, and to better handle the mail in their territory.

The new carrier begins work tomorrow morning.

THE LIGHT PLANT NEEDS MACHINERY

It is Now Equipped With Obsolete Material.

Expert Humphrey Will Not Be Ready
With Estimates For Two Weeks
—Two Plans Proposed.

GENERAL COUNCIL DECIDES

Electrical Engineer H. H. Humphrey, of St. Louis, who came here yesterday at the instance of the board of public works to go over the city light plant and ascertain what is needed, returned home last evening.

He will have estimates ready for the board in about two weeks. He made a thorough inspection of the plant, and found much obsolete, undesirable machinery.

The board of public works will get from him two estimates, one for temporary repairs to the light plant, and the other for permanent improvement of that will equip the plant for supplying Paducah with all the lights likely to be needed for ten years to come.

While at present there are no figures available, it is thought that between $5,000 and $8,000 will be necessary to patch up the plant temporarily, or without making any provisions for the future, while the permanent improvement of the plant will probably cost in the neighborhood of $15,000 or $20,000.

"We, of course, have nothing to do with the ultimate settlement of the question," said a member of the board this morning. "We can only find out what the city needs and recommend it to the general council."

"We have found already that the city light plant was never what it should have been. Cheap, second-hand machinery was installed at the start which was ten years ago. There has probably been more progress in electrical devices in the last ten years than in anything else, and Paducah should get the benefit of it, instead of plodding along with this antiquated machinery that most cities would throw to the scrap pile."

"We hope to get a complete alternating outfit that will furnish either arc or street lights, and incandescent lights. It will cost something to get the machinery but the city will save a great deal of money in the long run, and have better lights for many years to come, besides."

A NEW TEACHER

is Necessary for the Mechanicsburg School.

One Class Now Has 83 Pupils—Another Room Is Necessary.

The school in Mechanicsburg is in a deplorable condition, and Supt. Lieb stated this morning that he would urge the board to act immediately in remedying the matter.

"In Mechanicsburg we have one small school, the Langstaff," Supt. Lieb stated, "and this is not half large enough to accommodate the pupils we have attending. In that section there are 137 pupils attending, and one class had a total of 83. This is too much work for a teacher and we had to arrange half-day sessions to enable her to teach. This can not be kept up the remainder of the term and relief must be had. I will urge the board to rent another building and teach one of the grades separate, if they will allow one more teacher."

Supt. Lieb stated that the schools were worked out regularly as to classification in grades. He has arranged the schools so that on an average the grades have 40 pupils each except in Mechanicsburg where nothing short of an additional teacher will suffice. The expense will be a little heavier but the pupils must be taught and the school authorities will be urged to act at the earliest opportunity. It is impossible to build the new $6,000 school this year but the board will build next year and the expense of the addition of another room to the Langstaff school will be unnecessary, and the only clear remedy is to rent a store room of some kind to serve this year out.

There are four more teachers this year than last year, which indicates the progress made by the schools. Many pupils from private schools have realized the high standard of the public schools and are attending the latter.

DAILY THOUGHT.

Avoid fear in all its varied forms of expression; it is the greatest enemy of the human race.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and cooler tonight and Saturday.

REGISTER NEXT WEEK.

The new registration law, which was sustained as valid by the court of appeals makes very important changes in the method of qualifying to vote.

Each voter must receive a certificate that he has registered, signed by all the election officers, and he cannot vote unless that certificate is presented by him at the polls on election day.

Next Tuesday, October 4, is registration day in Paducah.

ENTER GORMAN.

Thus far the management of the democratic campaign has been an obvious bungler, due, paradoxically to a combination of inaptness with over-sharp methods. Taggart has apparently not known what to do, and Hill has known a little too well. Now they have imported Gorman, a man whose methods are quite so well known as those of Hill, and whose ability in the first Cleveland campaign was conceded.

Gorman is shrewd, but the trouble with him is much the same as the trouble with Hill—he is too shrewd, too much in love with the subtleties of diplomatic politics to see that there are times when a short, straight road is better than a labyrinth. If a man wants to get anywhere without being seen, a winding road is very convenient, but if he wants merely to get there, we have geometrical proof of the fact that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points.

The trouble with Gorman as a manager of the democratic campaign this year is that he will have to oppose, not politicians of his own stamp, but the straightforward, resolute, undogmatic personality of Theodore Roosevelt, and that the people are thoroughly awake to the advantages of a candidate who does not have to be explained. There are a good many things in Gorman's past which it would be hard to explain. He himself has never tried to explain them. He has taken refuge in a silence which his friends call dignified and his opponents regard as a confession of guilt. Anybody who likes can look up his record and decide for himself what it indicates. Gorman knows all the tricks of politics, but are tricks necessary, this year, to win votes?

PARKER AND THE TARIFF.

Judge Parker has evidently been coached somewhat upon a subject of which he apparently knew but little when he accepted the nomination for the presidency. In treating of the tariff question he says: "Furthermore, when our manufacturers are dependent on raw materials in whole or in part imported it is vital to the extension of their markets abroad that they secure their materials on the most favorable terms." If Judge Parker was familiar with the rebate clause of the McKinley tariff, or with the rebate clause of the Wilson-Gorman tariff, he would know that there is already provision for a rebate of 99 per cent. upon all imports used in the manufacture of products for export. What more favorable terms would Judge Parker ask than that? It simply proves that the Judge does not know what he is talking about, and that his knowledge of the whole tariff question and its handmaid reciprocity is but superficial.

Judge Parker may be a diplomatic man, but if he is going to reconcile the opinions of all the people who are trying to agree with him he will need something more powerful than the lockjaw style of diplomacy.

It is all right for the democratic campaign managers to "view with alarm" the president's character and tactics. If we were in their place we should not be easy in our minds, either.

The people who are feeling so skittish about President Roosevelt's tendency to do things will not grumble one little bit when he does things they are in a hurry to have done.

Inability to boss Dave Hill is a poor recommendation for the job of president over the destinies of the country.

ACTING GOVERNOR
REPLIES TO CRITICSHe Gives Humanity as His Excuse.Says He Is Satisfied With the Job
of the Almighty in Making Thorne.

SAYS HE IS NOT A STONE MAN

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 30.—In response to the criticism of his action in pardoning Clem Hatcher, the Louisville man serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary here, Lieutenant and Acting Governor Thorne gave the following characteristic interview: "It's human to err and divine to forgive. The representations of Hatcher in this article and those in his petition are entirely different. He was evidently a bad man. But if he had been a good man he would not have been in the penitentiary. 'I cannot myself that I am not the first man that made mistakes, I hope no one will charge my mistakes to the governor for he told me I would get into trouble by trying to be overly kind to friends, so I assume all the blame in this matter. I wonder what the very people who disapprove of my action in this case would have to say if this poor fellow had been their brother, their son or kin? I dare say they would resent any criticism.

"Suppose you suggest that some of these folks swap off their liver for a heart. If the people want a stone man without a heart in this position why not have Madison or Burkhart to furnish one and stand it up in the executive office where the broken-hearted mothers fathers and sisters can come and plead in vain.

"Besides you remember it was said when I was a candidate for this office I would turn everybody out of the penitentiary (which I deny) yet 200,000 people voted for me. Now then I make one mistake they jump on me with both feet.

"That I have a heart easily troubled and that I respond promptly and in trouble I confess. God made me so and I do not regret it, yet I am sure it leads me often to yield when I should be stern. Yet I am content that I err on the side of mercy."

PANAMA WILL ASK ANNEXATION.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)

A free port will be at the Atlantic and also at the Pacific end of the United States' ten mile wide strip across the Panama isthmus. Admiral Walker of the Panama canal commission tells this, and he knows. Probably a third of the entire business done at the isthmus when the work of canal construction gets actively under way will be done inside of the United States' strip. Probably two thirds or three-fourths of all activities of the isthmus will be along or near that strip after the canal gets into operation. The two United States ports will immeasurably surpass the ports of the Panama republic in the extent of their commerce.

This will mean that the people of Panama will ask annexation to the United States at a very early day. Annexation is inevitable in any case. It was decreed just as soon as this country got its canal treaty with the perpetual possession of the territory for five miles along each side of the canal throughout its entire length. The republic of Panama has approximately 34,000 square miles of territory and a population of 340,000. She has Maine's area and a little less than half of Maine's population, or about the same number as Vermont. Standing alone, the Panama republic is feeble, except as it is leaved up by the United States protectorate.

Panama's interests will quickly incite a movement for annexation. A part of the United States—a territory for a few years and a state afterward—Panama will be able to make her mark in the world. When the stars and stripes are raised all over the little republic, that 340,000 population will soon double and triple itself. The isthmian country has large natural resources. These will be developed after she comes under our flag. American foreign capital will flow into Panama in streams which will surprise its inhabitants. The present population will soon be largely outnumbered by a different sort of a race from that which has inhabited the isthmus heretofore, and a new career will be opened to her people. All this destiny is pretty much to the United States and to the world. The brightest day in Panama's annals: this far was the day in which, through her canal treaty, she came under the guardianship of the United States and started on the road to annexation.

SLIGHT WOUND

Dog Bit a Ten Year Old Boy at Mayfield.Six Weeks Elapsed and Today He Was Brought Here For the Mad Stone.

Mr. J. F. Sullivan and wife, of Mayfield, Ky., arrived this morning early with John, their four-year-old boy, who was bitten on the forehead about six weeks ago by a dog. The wound has now entirely healed, but the parents of the youngster, who had read the various foolish superstitions and "notions" about people going "mad," months after being bitten, came to Paducah and wanted Captain Joe Fowler's mad stone applied to the place.

The dog that bit the child was evidently rabid, they say. It bit a pup and a pig the same day, and both shortly afterwards died after exhibiting every symptom of rabies.

The slight scratch on the boy's forehead healed, however, and he is apparently all right. The parents were advised that the only way the mad stone could be applied would be by cutting open the scar, which would be foolish, and the boy would probably have no trouble from the wound.

HONEST CONFESSION

IS GOOD FOR THE SOUL. THINKS
THE COURT.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 30.—Expression of regret by Gov. John L. Bates and Speech Justice H. C. Phelps, of the Municipal Court, at Lee, Mass., that want of knowledge of international law had resulted in the imposition of a fine by Judge Phelps on Hugh Gurney, third secretary of the British embassy, have been forwarded to the state department at Washington.

Secretary Gurney, on Monday last was adjudged guilty of exceeding the laws governing the speed of automobiles and of contempt of court in refusing to plead to the charge against him and was fined $50. He protested, and the matter was called to the attention of the state department by the British ambassador with the result that Gov. Bates was asked to investigate.

Prompt action was taken by Lieut. Gov. Curtis Guild, Jr., in the absence of the governor, and by Gov. Bates on his return to the state yesterday, and several letters bearing on the case were sent to Washington.

It has been reported that Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, of the First Christian church, had decided to reconsider his resignation, and at the earnest solicitation of his many friends and admirers, remain in Paducah. Rev. Pinkerton today stated that this was a mistake, as he would leave Paducah when his resignation became effective.

Theatrical Notes

Milt G. Barlow, the original "Uncle Black Joe" of the minstrel stage, for many years widely known as "Uncle Tom," and later with The Texas Saver Company, is dead in New York from cancer, aged 65 years.

"The Sign of the Cross" was presented last night at The Kentucky Theater to a small crowd. The play is on the order of "Quo Vadis" and the company headed by Mr. Walter Law, embraces some good talent. Miss Burdette Radcliffe, who played Poppaea, empress of Rome, is well known in Kentucky, being a niece of Dr. J. H. Richmond, of Owensboro. Miss Laura Stone did good work as Mercia, and the company is a capable one. Miss Frances Lynn, who had a minor part, is a former newspaper woman.

JUDGE REED

GOES TO HENTON TO HOLD CIR-CUIT COURT.

Circuit Judge W. M. Reed this morning went to Henton to hold court.

Judge Reed has been attending the fair at St. Louis and in his absence Attorney J. O. Flournoy acted for him. Judge Flournoy's incumbency was marked by his knocking the lights out of the Birmingham and Benton local option laws. He decided the cases on technicalities.

Attorneys W. A. Berry, John G. Miller and D. G. Park went to Henton with Judge Reed to attend court.

Today Referee in Bankruptcy E. W. Bagby made a "show why" order of sale in the O. C. Leigh branch of the bankrupt case of the Leigh Fruit & Storage Company.

Mr. Leigh, it will be remembered, made an individual assignment when he assigned for the firm and his individual assignment was brought into the bankruptcy court with the firm. The order of sale today was made on the property located near the city hall at Fourth and Kentucky Avenue.

The sale will be made ten days hence unless the creditors meeting develops facts which will make this contrary to the regular rules of procedure.

MEET SUNDAY

TO SETTLE THE PASTORATE OF
THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The members of the First Presbyterian church will hold a congregational meeting Sunday morning at 11 o'clock for the purpose of calling a pastor to take charge of the church.

Rev. Cave resigned several months ago on account of ill health but has now about recovered and many think he will remain here.

This afternoon in Dr. S. B. Caldwell's office the committee from the church will meet to discuss the advisability of getting the Sunday morning meeting off to enable Rev. Francis R. Beattie, of Louisville to preach. From present indications the morning meeting to call a pastor will not be postponed, however. There are only two ministers favorably named, other than Rev. Cave, of Paducah, and Rev. Porter, of Louisville.

It has been reported that Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, of the First Christian church, had decided to reconsider his resignation, and at the earnest solicitation of his many friends and admirers, remain in Paducah. Rev. Pinkerton today stated that this was a mistake, as he would leave Paducah when his resignation became effective.

Insurance Broker Assailed and Robbed.

Athlete Arrested And He Attempts to Kill the Detective Who Did It.

HE THEN ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

New York, September 30.—In the arrest of a young man who calls himself Thomas H. Price, and the murderous assault upon a detective sergeant, in which the latter was severely stabbed twice, it developed today that A. Z. Leubbers, an insurance broker, was a few days ago assailed, robbed and left unconscious in a launch on the Hudson river.

The assault and robbery of Mr. Leubbers was committed, according to a confession which the police say has been made by Price, for the sole purpose of getting money which the latter had to have to continue in extravagance and fashion. Price, who is a man of athletic build, only twenty-two, well dressed, with every trace of refinement and education, was desperate and threatened to end his life at the first opportunity, the police sergeant said.

According to the story told by the police the assault and robbery of Mr. Leubbers was brought about by an advertisement in a New York newspaper, offering to sell a naphtha launch. When a well-mannered young man called on the insurance broker at his home and represented that he wanted to buy a naphtha launch, the broker went with him to show him that it was in working order. The two boarded the boat and set out on a run about the river. While he talked the young man held a large iron wrench in his hand. Suddenly, according to the story told the police, he leaped forward and dealt the broker a hard blow on the head, felling him unconscious to the bottom of the boat.

When the boat was in the middle of the stream, it is alleged that Price stripped Mr. Leubbers of his clothes and his jewelry. He even changed clothing with the unconscious man, and then steered the launch to the shore, alighted and pushed the boat out into the stream.

Mr. Leubbers was rescued and towed to shore, and the story of his assault and robbery was told the police.

When Price was arrested today the prisoner made a violent attack upon his captor and other officers were called before he was subdued and taken to the police station. In the struggle Price used a lead pencil as a weapon and inflicted two severe stab wounds in the detective's neck.

COMPLAIN OF TOMATO JUICE.

A great deal of complaint has been lodged within the last few days relative to the unsanitary condition at the Paducah Packing company's plant, of "canning factory," on South Tenth street near Norton. It is said that tomatoes rotting in the yard and permitted to run out into the gutter emit a very disagreeable odor and that the residents can hardly stand it. The matter was referred to the health authority but nothing done so far. President Robertson, of the board of health, stated this afternoon that this matter came under the authority of Health Officer Graves who had authority to issue warrants and compel a cleaning up, if necessary. It is likely something will be done at once.

HOLY WATERS.

Little Girl Dying with Consumption Dips Herself and Claims She Is Well.

Lourdes, Sept. 30.—The population of this city is speaking of nothing but a new miracle due to the healing powers of the holy waters here. Pretty little Marie Madeline Genser, apparently dying with consumption, was dipped in the holy waters some days ago.

She almost immediately began to grow better, and yesterday she was placed before the altar of the church of Notre Dame des Victoires.

As the priests chanted the benediction she suddenly rose. Her face seemed transfigured and with loud voice she told the congregation that she felt well the moment the water in the grotto touched her body, and that she would now be as strong as other children. Catholics believe openly in a miracle, while the doctors are skeptics.

Dr. Berillon, a recognized authority on hypnotism, declares that the recovery has absolutely nothing to do with the immersion in the water, but is due solely to hypnotic suggestion by the priests of the church. He says that these like doctors, make a study of suggestive susceptibility of the patient and these induce a hypnotic state by their chant and finally associating certain acts with cure leave the patient in a state of suggested cure.

Hearts Courageous

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

The second day out he accosted the skipper, Master Jabez Rives, and wished him fair weather and a good day with an insinuating accent which betokened a hint for conversation. But Master Rives replied only with a neutral grunt.

Jarrat tried a direct inquiry. "Where is the Marquis de la Trouille?"

"Sick," replied the skipper. "In his cabin," and rolled away.

"Ah!" smiled Jarrat. "Our French gentleman is a poor sailor."

But as the days went by it became certain that the distinguished passenger was ill of a less passing malady than that of sea-sickness.

On an evening the captain pushed open a narrow cabin door at the end of a passage, but before he could enter a young man sprang up and barred the way.

"I would see the Marquis de la Trouille," said Jarrat.

"You cannot see him, monsieur." The young man's tone was very firm.

"Who are you?"

"The Marquis's secretary, monsieur."

Jarrat took a gold crown from his pocket and offered it to the other with the easy confidence of one perfectly certain of his ground. Every understanding, it was his belief, had his price from lackeys to prime ministers. It is a theory which on the whole works not badly.

The man before him, however, was of another sort. He put the coin back.

"You cannot see the Marquis, monsieur," he repeated.

"Indeed, you who?" said Jarrat, with his tongue on his lip and in the soft tone which with him covered a white trail of rage.

A copper button, placed with index, it flew yellow flames down the passage, and in this glare the young man on the threshold saw his face, evilly beautiful and distorted. The coin rattled on the floor.

The young Frenchman stooped to pick up a gold piece. "Monsieur has dropped his crown," he said, holding it out.

Jarrat took it and thrust it into his pocket. "It was too small a denier," he said easily, "oh, master secretary?"

Most of those on the ship did not know, so familiar were the prejudices of the Anglo-Saxon, that the Marquis de la Trouille was a personage in his own country.

Even Baron de Bon-marchais, son of a watchmaker, that old, naive, fantastic character who at the age of twenty-four had washed his hands at his father's shop, changed his clothes and gone to sleep to give the four daughters of Louis XV. lessons on the lacy—even he was less welcome at the Tuilleries or less a favorite of the young queen Marie Antoinette than this young nobleman now aboard the Two Sisters.

It is perhaps not to be wondered at that the passengers knew little of such things and doubtless for the most part cared less.

Two Annapolis merchants, loyal since the nonimportation agreements had pinched their pockets; a brace of London factors looking for likely agencies; a Virginian fresh from study in the Middle Temple, bound for the westward at Lancaster; a British quartermaster journeying to Boston—what should such a company know of the pedigree or the character of the French court?

A diplomat might have found in the presence of the marquis something to ponder. For at that time strange things were stirring. Louis XVI., young, enthusiastic, unaccustomed, was listening for the first time exceeding loudly it is to be a king. M. Thurot, his grim old minister of finance, logical, pitiless, cold as a dog's nose, was pulling one way; Benjamin Franklin, brilliant as a chameleon, fascinating, egotist, intimate of a French queen, was pulling another.

And what was the bone of contention? Whether France should give her treasure to the secret aid of the American colonies. With such counsels in the air England slept, like a fairly bulldog, with one eye open. She watched at home, and her native ambassador, Lord Stormont, kept a hawk's eye upon the Tuilleries.

So, in itself, there was an interest for those who knew, attaching to the sudden journeying to America of this man, so near to the French councils, at once a noble, a courtier and a republican.

And this interest was intensified for Jarrat, who, mindful of the letter he carried of confidential import, hugged the reflection that he knew the reason for it.

Jarrat, like many another schemer, made the error of undervaluing the intellectual of his opponent. He had small idea that the marquis' young secretary was observant in his turn. It was nevertheless the fact. But M. Armand, who had scented him very early, kept his cabin, and no one aboard the ship carried no leech-saw his master.

Four days after the episode of the gold crown Jarrat tried the skipper again.

Master Rives received a bitter end and wore a habitual frown to his eye. Now the courtesy came as thickly as cold weather frosts.

"The Marquis de la Trouille," he answered, "isn't on the ship."

"You cannot see him."

Jarrat stopped back heavily. "Not on the ship, friend plague met. He is on the ship."

"Mayhap ye know better nor I," answered Master Rives shortly.

Jarrat burst out laughing. He felt a sudden contempt for this clumsy sailor's defiance.

"A brave conclusion!" he cried. "And how long is it to last? Is the noble gentleman to the shaming Abraham to his cabin till we sight the Virginia capes?"

A while ago he was sick, quarantined from all our piping organs by his agonized eyes. Now, behold, he is not even allowed! Oh, an accomplished politician!"

The skipper spluttered out to sea, and a drawn pucker came to his lips.

"What then?"

"Just this: I want to see the marquis, and I mean to see the marquis. I've heard that, you humphs? 'Twill be better for you, I can tell you, if you fetch me to him at once!"

The skipper's moment had arrived.

"Fetch ye to him?" he roared, with something between an oath and a chuckle. "The man ye're after died two days ago and was sent to the fishes last night! Fetch ye to him! Haul, haul!"

With this parting shot he went off spitting furiously.

"Dead!" exclaimed Jarrat, with sagging jaw, staring after him. "Dead!" he said again, and then stood, vacant-eyed, his face the dead color of asphodel in which calculation has had no time to slip.

TORMENTING RHEUMATISM

Columbus, Ohio, May 20, 1903.

Six years ago I had a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I was laid up in bed for six months, and the doctors I had did me no good. They changed medicines every week and nothing they prescribed seemed to help me. Finally I began the use of S. S. S. My knee and elbow joints were swollen terribly, and at one time my joints were so swollen and painful that I could not close them when opened. I was so bad that I could not move knee or foot. I was getting discouraged, you may be sure, when I began S. S. S., but as I saw it was helping me I continued it, and to-day I am a sound well man and have never had a return of the disease. S. S. S. purified my blood and cured me of this severe case of rheumatism after everything else had failed. I have recommended it to others with good results.

Hearts Courageous

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

Two second day out he escorted the skipper, Master J. J. Elmer, and wished him fair weather and a good day with an insinuating smile which betokened a hint for conversation. But Master Elmer replied only with a neutral grunt.

Jarrat tried a direct inquiry. "Where is the Marquis de la Tronerie?"

"Stick," replied the skipper, "in his cabin," and rolled away.

"Ah," smiled Jarrat. "Our French gentleman is a poor sailor."

But as the days went by it became certain that the distinguished passenger was ill of a less passing malady than that of a sailor.

On an evening the captain pushed open a narrow cabin door at the end of a passage, but before he could enter a young man sprang up and barred the way.

"I would see the Marquis de la Tronerie," said Jarrat.

"You cannot see him, monsieur. The young man's tone was very firm.

"Who are you?"

"The Marquis's secretary, monsieur."

Jarrat took a gold crown from his pocket and offered it to the other with the easy confidence of one perfectly certain of his ground. Every underling, it was his belief, had his price from lackey to prime minister. It is a theory which on the whole works not badly.

The man before him, however, was of another sort. He put the coin back.

"You cannot see the Marquis, monsieur," he repeated.

"Can you, you who?" said Jarrat, with his tongue on his lip and in the soft tone which with him covered a white veil of rage.

A copper lantern, placed with holes, threw yellow beams down the passage, and in this glare the young man on the threshold saw his face, evilly beautiful and distorted. The coin rattled on the floor.

The young Frenchman stooped to pick up a gold piece. "Monsieur has dropped his crown," he said, holding it out.

Jarrat took it and thrust it into his pocket. "It was too small a diamond," he said easily, "oh, monsieur secretary."

Most of those on the ship did not know, so insular were the prejudices of the Anglo-Saxons, that the Marquis de la Tronerie was a personage in his own country. Even Baron de Beaumarchais, son of a watchmaker, that airy, native, fantastic character who at the age of twenty-four had washed his hands at the Tuilleries or less a favorite of the young Queen Marie Antoinette than this same goldsmith now aboard the "Two Sisters."

It is perhaps not to be wondered at that the passengers knew little of such things and doubtless for the most part cared less. Two Annapolis merchants, loyal since the nonimportation agreements had pinched their pockets; a brace of London factors looking for likely agencies; a Virginian fresh from study in the Middle Temple, bound for the workweek at Lancaster; a British quartermaster journeying to Boston; what should such a company know of Gallic pedlars or the chatter of the French court?

A diplomat might have found in the presence of the Marquis something to ponder. For at that time strange things were stirring. Louis XVI, young, enthusiastic, unaccustomed, was learning for the first time exceeding difficult it is to be a king. M. Turgot, his grim old minister of finances, legend, pitiless, cold as a dog's nose, was pulling one way; Beaumarchais, brilliant as a champagne, fascinating, egotist, intimate of a French queen, was pulling another.

And what was the bone of contention? Whether France should give her treasure to the secret aid of the American colonies. With such counsels in the air England slept, like an airy bulldog, with one eye open. She watched at home, and her astute ambassador, Lord Stormont, kept a hawk's eye upon the "Tuleries."

So, in brief, there was an interest for those who knew, attaching to the sudden journeying to America of this man, so near to the French court, at once a noble, a courtier and a republican.

And this interest was intensified for Jarrat, who, mindful of the letter he carried of confidential import, judged the reflection that he knew the reason for it.

Jarrat, like many another schemer, made the error of underestimating the intricacy of an opponent. He had small idea that the Marquis's young secretary was observant in his turn. It was nevertheless the fact. But M. Armand, who had escorted him very early, kept his cabin, and no one aboard the ship carried no letter—saw his master.

Four days after the episode of the gold crown Jarrat told the skipper news.

Master Elmer checked a bitter rant and wore a habitual frown to his eyes. Now the courier came as thickly as cold weather trouble.

"The Marquis de la Tronerie," he answered, "isn't on the ship."

"You cannot see him."

Jarrat stepped back heavily. "Not on the ship, then, please me! He is on the ship."

"Mayhap you know better nor I," answered Master Elmer shortly.

Jarrat burst out laughing. He felt a sudden contempt for this clumsy air-tortoise.

"A brave conclusion!" he cried. "And how long is it to last? Is the noble gentleman to the shunning Albatross in his cabin till we sight the Virginia capes? A while ago he was sick, guarded from all our prying eyes by his anxious-eyed clerk. Now, behold, he is even bolder! Oh, an accomplished nobleman!"

The skipper smiled out to sea, and a drawn pucker came to his lips.

"Monsieur," said Jarrat, his tone taking edge, "I have business with this gentleman, and I'll not be put off. This is the eighth day out, and he hasn't shown his nose out of his cabin. 'Tis my opinion he's no more sick than I am."

"No more is he," said Master Elmer. "What then?"

"Just this: I want to see the Marquis, and I mean to see the Marquis. I've seen that, you jump? 'Twill be better for you, I can tell you, if you fetch me to him at once."

The skipper's moment had arrived. "Fetch ye to him!" he roared, with something between an oath and a chuckle. "The man ye're after died two days ago and was sent to the fishes last night! Fetch ye to him! Haw, haw!"

With this parting shot he went off spitting furiously.

"Good!" exclaimed Jarrat, with sagging jaw, staring after him. "Good!" he said again, and then stood, vacant-eyed, his face the dead color of blight in which calculation has had no time to slip.

Use Shoffner's Sure Cure

The Great Tonic and Blood Purifier—Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Catarrh.

It is a trite and true saying that the "blood is the life." Now where does the blood come from? Everybody knows, or should know, that it comes from the nutritive elements extracted by the stomach from the food we eat. If the digestive organs do not perform their functions by reason of disease germs, there is no nutrition extracted, and the food might better be thrown in the dump to decay and breed germs in the open air than to remain in the stomach and become a rotten, putrid mass, as it naturally does if there is no digestion. No disease germ can live and find lodgment in a human body that uses the Shoffner's Sure Cure, and price $1.00.

Of late he has been acting a little "off" and his people fearing he would hurt someone, sent for the officers and had him arrested.

The young man was in the field working when the sheriff arrived, and they waited in the barn until he came in. Sheriff Potter informed him that some of the people said he was crazy and to prove they were wrong he should come to town and stand trial and prove his innocence. The young man readily came.

PESSIMISTIC VIEW

CHICAGO LABOR LEADERS PRE-DICT DOWNFALL OF UNIONISM.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 30.—Annihilation for labor unions is predicted by Barney Cohen, president of the state federation of labor, and Richard Stuebel, a delegate of the machinists' union, unless there is a complete reorganization on radical lines. Following the disclosures of disintegration in the Chicago federation of labor, which has lost 100,000 members in the last year, Mr. Cohen says that employers' associations and citizens' alliances in the outside towns are waging a destructive campaign against union men. Mr. Cohen says:

"I believe the remedy lies in the establishment of a central body, with power to assess all organizations to assist in winning strikes. We must fight capital with capital, and one big strike at a time. Labor must also reorganize and get into politics. We must elect judges, legislators and other officeholders who will serve us, and not the employers. I believe that unless the unions reorganize on political lines we are facing a grave crisis."

Mr. Stuebel was more pessimistic. He said: "The bottom is dropping out of the whole local organization. The truth is that Chicago working men have been fighting for organizations until they are at the point of starvation. The men have lost confidence in their leaders, and we must look for a remedy."

Every republican in Paducah and the incorporated towns of the district should register on next Tuesday, October 4th.

NOTED SUIT

COLORADO WILL GET PART OF KANSAS.

Pueblo, Col., Sept. 30.—An effort at a solution of the Kansas-Colorado water suit is in progress and if efforts of those most interested in the case are successful, a strip of the western portion of Kansas, about 100 miles wide, will be annexed to Colorado and litigation now before the supreme court at Washington will be thrown out.

Prominent politicians of Kansas and Colorado are making every effort to get the bill through the legislature of both states whereby the western portion of Kansas can be taken into Colorado.

This, it is thought by those who have given the irrigation question much study will solve the difficulty and both states will be benefited to a great extent. The strip which it is proposed to annex to Colorado is an arid region of the state and the irrigation problem is of the greatest importance to the residents. East of Dodge City, practically no water is taken from Arkansas river for irrigation purposes and the suit against Colorado was brought for the purpose of securing a sufficient amount of water in that portion of the state extending westward from Dodge City to the Colorado line.

Last night some one turned in a false alarm from box 19 at Seventh and Boyd streets and the police are this morning looking the case up. It is understood the alarm was sent in by boys to see the fire departments make a good run, and if the boys' names are learned, it will not prove so funny to them.

All republicans are requested to attend a meeting of republicans at their headquarters over Beckman's grocery Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.
